Elevated Environmental Announces Expansion/New Headquarters in Reidsville

Rockingham County, NC (November 29, 2017) — Elevated Environmental Corporation is expanding its Reidsville operation with the purchase of the former Reidsville Armory building on North East Market Street. The environmental, demolition and industrial services company will combine existing facilities from Greensboro and Reidsville into this new location, which will serve as the company's flagship corporate headquarters and warehouse/storage operation. The company plans to invest about $450,000 in the historic building and create 10-20 new jobs within the next year.

Elevated Environmental is hosting a Job Fair on Thursday, December 7th from 5-7 p.m. at the Reidsville Chamber of Commerce, which is located at 140 South Scales Street in downtown Reidsville, NC. Jobs created will be in the construction and safety sectors.

"The decision to expand our presence and bring our headquarters to Reidsville was a calculated step in our business growth strategy," said Stephanie Cox, president of Elevated Environmental Corp. "This community is where we live, work and raise our family. It is where we call home.

"The purchase of the armory is part our belief in investing in our community and providing quality employee opportunities for the area," she added. "We can further expand staffing and capabilities in our service offerings, as well as increase our ability to reach future markets."

"We are ecstatic about Elevated Environmental's plans for this historic building in Reidsville. It is great to see this existing business growing here while also bringing new life to one our vacant buildings," said Jan Critz, director of the Rockingham County Center for Economic Development, Small Business & Tourism.

"Elevated Environmental's decision to locate its headquarters in the former Armory property is a huge success story for both the company and the City of Reidsville. Not only does the community attract quality jobs and private investment, this project will be a catalyst for the redevelopment and revitalization of this historic area of Reidsville. The City is excited to be a part of Elevated Environmental's future growth and we appreciate the commitment to our community," said Jeff Garstka, director of Economic Development for Reidsville.
