City Council recognizes Reidsville Luckies teams

Two Reidsville Luckies baseball teams took center stage Tuesday night, July 10, receiving recognition from the Reidsville City Council.

Mayor Jay Donecker, on behalf of the City Council, presented Certificates of Recognition to the Reidsville Luckies 8 and Under Coach Pitch baseball team and the Reidsville Luckies 10 and Under team. Both teams are sponsored and practice at the Reidsville Luckies Batting Academy located on South Scales Street in Reidsville.

The younger travel team, led by Head Coach Hal Young, has gone up and down the East Coast competing in numerous tournaments, compiling a 10-0 record in the USSSA (United States Specialty Sports Association) and 16-2 overall, including AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) competition. The USSSA has recognized the Luckies 8U team as the No. 1 team among 785 teams across the United States.

The Reidsville Luckies 10 and Under baseball team, coached by Head Coach David Taylor, went to the Super State AAU Championship in Durham, North Carolina the weekend of June 23. In their bracket, a total of 17 games were played and the Luckies won their division, then went on to win it all. This state win secures the team a free paid berth to the World Series this summer.

Both teams sported their championship rings and Luckies shirts. The coaches, along with Scott Strader and Ritchie Pegram, owners of the Reidsville Luckies Batting Academy, wore “Team Reidsville” shirts for the meeting while the Council members were presented with Luckies hats to wear.

Reidsville Luckies Baseball Teams, both the 8 and Under, shown above, and the 10 and Under, below, were recognized by the Reidsville City Council at its meeting Tuesday night.
